Kitchen planning.

All options are open to you with the handleless kitchen from Beckermann. The selection of units is almost unlimited, as our Trendline range is available in all our varying heights, widths and depths. Even special widths and height for particularly specific individual wishes are feasible. In the picture here for example, the fronts project downwards over the carcass, so that the plinth appears much smaller. Trendline can of course also be additionally combined with the PushToOpen mechanical opening system or with the ServoDrive electric opening system.

All models with a cubic geometry that matches the purist style of the Trendline series are combinable. You can find all the information about the individual models, surfaces, colours or glass doors through Kitchen world High gloss – Matt – Laminate – Wood.

With the handleless kitchen, you grasp the front from behind to open it.

The handle profile incorporated in the unit carcass offers an individual selection in terms of detail:
