surface-mounted grip ledge

Kitchen planning.

Clean lines, elegant design. The visual effect of the surface-mounted grip ledge is that of a handleless kitchen.

For a uniform appearance, pull-outs can readily be equipped with a PushToOpen system – without a grip ledge - see illustration. We recommend wall units from the Trendline series, without visible handle ledges; they can however also be equipped with the surface-mounted grip ledge of course.

In detail:

The advantage is that almost all units from the standard range can be included in planning.

All models with a cubic geometry that matches the purist planning style are combinable. You can find all the information about the individual models, surfaces and colours through Kitchen world High gloss – Matt – Laminate – Wood.
